Court May Decide Whether This Horse Is Worth His Keep

Here's a real, true story of a horse sating his head off." and then some. ridgy afternoon Lawrence Turpin, 1143 outh Second West street, came to Assignt City Attorney Dulton with the atement that ten weeks ago his horse. Luncertain age and weighing about 800 ounds, with an approximate value of 40 or $50, had strayed away. Turpin aid that he bad spent many long and early hours searching for his beast of urden, had inquired at the stray pen mid had scanned the "Found" columns to the daily papers.

Friday morning the missing animal was scated in the possession of a negro amed Reynolds, who runs a small coal not kindling wood business in Victoria liey. Reynolds was quite willing to addit that the horse was not his, but delated that the animal came voluntarily his place and that he took it in and ared for it. He was ready to turn the orse over to the owner, provided he ere paid at the rate of 75 cents per ay for boarding it, about $57 in all. As the negro vendor of kindling wood stated to have used the animal in his elivery business the owner could not alte the same view and the matter will robably be threshed out in the courts.

Doesn't Like Marriage Agency Fiance: Accused of Getting Money by Fraud.

Special to The Tribune. GOLDFIELD, Nev., Jan. 20.-Miss Grace Holland, a pretty Cincinnati girl, entered into correspondence through the medium of a matrimonial agency with S. S. Lockkett of Beatty, Nev., representing himself to be a wealthy mining man. She agreed to come to Nevada for a meeting and better understanding, if sent transportation and expense if sent transportation and expense money.

At Rhyolite she was met by Lockkett, but being unimpressed with his appearance and learning that he was engaged in raising chickens, she denied her identity and came to Goldfield for further information. She was met by deputy sheriffs with a warrant charging her with obtaining money by false pretenses. The complaint had been sworn to by Lockkett. Miss Holland is at a local hotel, where she indignantly denies she will marry the Beatty man, and is considering an action for damages for false arrest.
